Astley Kitchens & Bedrooms

The kitchen is the hub of any home, and with Astley Kitchens and Bedrooms you are in good hands.

In these days of big business, it's refreshing to meet a real family-run firm. Set up by Greg and Louise Leckenby in 2006 in Broughton Astley, Astley Kitchens has gone from strength-to-strength, thanks to its principles of quality, value for money and excellent customer services.

These principles have given them an enviable reputation and means half of the people who come to them have been recommended by a former customer. As more of us look to remodel our existing home, instead of moving, Astley Kitchens can reinvigorate your cooking and dining experience, whether simply updating your look or undertaking a more ambitious project.

Once you've chosen from their staggering range of kitchens - which includes ranges from British and European designers and incorporates everything from supply only to fully-fitted and from budget to bespoke - the team will project manage the whole thing. This means one team to complete flooring, tiling, lighting, plumbing, installation and even knocking down walls and moving kitchens into other rooms! There is also a wide range of kitchen appliances to choose from by leading manufacturers.

As an independent shop, Astley Kitchens can source almost anything, and their stunning showroom features seven beautiful kitchen displays. With plans to extend their showroom in the New Year to allow them to display their collection of freestanding furniture for other rooms in the home.

Why not visit their showroom and leave it in their capable hands - it couldn't be easier!
